SCHOOL LUNCHES
That Ring The Bell

THEY don't creep like snails unwillingly to school" any more. Watch them. It's a merry day in September. There's a campus and an athletic field around every house. There's basket ball game to be played before school, there's an orchestra rehearsal, volleyball before the nine o'clock bell rings, and there's a tennis game coming next to be decided, or something else nine chaps very very important.

Modern educators have seen to that. And they've done more for you than that. They made school not merely a preparation for life but a life right now—living it a big, big way.

Give Mother a Hand

Mothers, too, have done their part. They have organized Parent-Teacher's associations to inspect and see. And they've studied the problem of dietetics, so that the foods which this important generation eats will best equip them for these interesting and healthful activities.

Lunch boxes are no longer carriers of something to merely "hold you over" until the evening dinner hour. They are exciting little adventures in themselves containing good things that you devour. It is easier today than it used to be, to prepare these lunches. There are canned fruit juices and thermos bottles to keep them cold; there are canned sandwich spreads and sliced bread to spread them on. Here are even some new foods in cans as Brown Betty, or baked apples. There are wooden or paper spoons to eat these delicious desserts with, so that even boys who don't like to carry spoons back home again can enjoy eating desserts and toss away the spoons.

Hot or Cold?

If you live near enough the school or the school bus, a hot home lunch is better as a regular thing. But if not, it isn't difficult to prepare a carry-lunch that will make the home-served noonday meal. Here are some menu suggestions for both normal

Undersea Creatures Band Together for Protection

Berkeley, Calif.—"Partnerships Under the Sea" might fittingly be the title of a new and spectacular film announced by scientists of the University of California in connection with the Institution's visual education department program. The film shows hitherto unphotographed "alliances" under water of sea beings, such as the hermit crab and the sea anemone; the sea cucumber and pearl fish; the snipe fish and jellyfish, who, it was found, lead together for mutual protection.

Key Lost for 30 Years Discovered on Radish

Cedar Rapids, Neb.—While sweeping snow from her porch 30 years ago, Mrs. Phil Wagner smashed a key into the garden bed. An exhaustive search failed to find it.

A short time ago Mrs. Wagner was pulling radishes from her garden, encountering a particularly stubborn plant which refused to come out, so cut around it with a knife. She found the key encircling the radish.

Cigarettes give a lot of pleasure to a lot of people.

More cigarettes are smoked today because more people know about them—they are better advertised.

But the main reason for the increase is that they are made better—made of better tobaccos; then again the tobaccos are blended—a blend of Domestic and Turkish tobaccos.

Chesterfield is made of mild, ripe tobaccos.
Everything that science knows about it used in making it a milder and better-tasting cigarette.

FATHER Darkleafs Column

Gives Ye Editor Gets
A Personal Word

Father Darkleaf has always looked on our friend "Bill" Tuck, state game from Halifax, as an able writer. As a budding statesman and poet, Bill has been coming along fine. But now, it appears from his own newspaper, that Bill has clinched out. He has just won a prize in a slogan contest.

Professor L. L. Crawley tells us he once played football, as a center.

I thought a "galloping martingale" would be some sort of a bird. But it happens to be the name of one of the four major "systems" used in the perpetual effort to 'break' the bank at Monte Carlo.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. (Thornhill spent the week end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. M. H Marks, near Lynchburg.

Several of our boys expect to go to camp this week. It's good they can have something to do but such a pity it's not a job that has a future. That is what our country needs, is someplace where our young men can work and know that they will be rewarded for faithful service. That would encourage them to press on to be mark of the high calling. As it is they just work enough to get by and that is all there is to it.

Miss Fannni, Diron's condition continues about the same.

Produce Prices

The following prices on produce were being offered in Appomattox this week:

Poultry: broilers, 20c; fryers 18 to 20c; stags 14 to 16c; hens: leghorns 14 and 12c; mixed medium, 14 and 16c; mixed heavy 16 and 18c.

Veals 8 and 9c; cows 2 1/2 to 4c; steers, medium 3 1/2 to 5c; heavy 4 1/2 to 6c.

Prices on things the farmer has to sell are up, and there is no better market for produce and livestock than right here in Appomattox.

Club Dance

The first dance of the season of the Piedmont German Club will be held this Friday night at the drug store hall.

Music for the event will be furnished by Coy Miller's orchestra. This is a popular organization here and the occasion is expected to be an enjoyable one.

Inspection

Army Official Praises Local C. C. C. Camp

Plan Contest

The Stonewall league, a junior and senior, are planning to have a reading contest to be held the first to second Saturday of December at the Stonewall school. There are to be four groups and each school in Appomatox county will be expected to enter one contestant in each group. The groups will be: beginners, through fourth grade; fifth grade through seventh grade; high school pupils; and outsiders. First and second prizes will be given in each of the groups.
